PALM SPRINGS, CA--- On Thursday, November 14, the Palm Springs City Council voted unanimously (5-0), for a comprehensive settlement package with the Palm Springs Section 14 Survivors that includes $5.9 million in direct cash payments to Survivors of Section 14, as well as renaming a park in Palm Springs to honor the Section 14 Survivors, and creating a monument to commemorate the history of Section 14.

This unanimous vote marks the end of a decades-long journey for justice and healing for hundreds of families displaced during the 1950s and 1960s.

City of San Bernardino Begins Renovation of Guadalupe Field at Sal Saavedra Park

SAN BERNARDINO, CA--- On Monday, October 7, leaders of San Bernardino Youth Baseball (SBYB) visited Guadalupe Field at Sal Saavedra Park on the City's westside to see the demolition underway as part of a $1.8 million renovation of the baseball field.

SBYB League President Brandon Ponce and Vice President Albert Castillo were joined by City of San Bernardino Mayor Helen Tran, Council members Fred Shorett, Damon Alexander, and San Bernardino County Supervisor Joe Baca Jr., walking the semi-demolished field and imagining what the field will look like in just a few months.

"I am thrilled to witness the transformation of Guadalupe Field and Sal Saavedra Park," said San Bernardino Mayor Helen Tran. "This project is about more than just infrastructure; it's about building a stron-

City of San Bernardino Begins Cleanup of Perris Hill Park

Last week's encampment cleanup will be followed by a two-week closure for additional cleaning, repairs, and maintenance.

SAN BERNARDINO, CA --- After weeks of outreach, the City of San Bernardino began a two-day encampment cleanup of Perris Hill Park on Thursday, November 14. This marks the first encampment cleanup in the San Bernardino since a judge recently lifted an injunction preventing cleanups in the city.

"These past two days have been a big success, and I want to thank everyone involved," said San Bernardino Mayor Helen Tran. "We have compassionately cleared the Park and will be restoring it for use by our residents and families." At approximately 7:30 am on Thursday, San Bernardino staff began systematically reminding unhoused individuals that the 64.4-acre park on Highland Avenue was to be cleaned up for health and safety reasons and they would need to leave.

San Bernardino Housing Department staff, Public Works crews, Police officers, Animal Services staff, City homeless outreach workers, and park rangers, along with City trash hauler, Burrtec, worked with the campers to identify items that could be disposed, items that they would take with them, and items that the city would temporarily store for up to 90 days.

Representatives from the Salvation Army and the San Bernardino City Unified School District were also on hand to assist.

"This is a high priority. We wanted to make sure that our first cleanup went smoothly, and it did," said Acting City Manager Rochelle Clayton. "The cleanup only took two days, but this operation has been underway for over a month."

California Reports First Case of Mpox in the United States

By Bo Tefu | California Black Media

On November 16, the California Department of Public Health (CDPH), reported the first known case of clade I Mpox, previously known as Monkeypox, in the United States.

However, the risk to the public remains low, according to the CDPH.

"This case was confirmed in an individual who recently traveled from Africa and is related to the ongoing outbreak of clade I mpox in Central and Eastern Africa," reads a statement the CDPH released.

According to the DDPH, "The affected individual received health care in San Mateo County based on their travel history and symptoms. The individual is isolating at home and recovering."

Public health workers are also conducting a contact tracing exercise and reaching out to people who have been in close proximity to the affected person.

"The mpox specimens from the traveler are being sent to the CDC for further laboratory testing," the CDPH press release continues.

Californians can take a number of steps to prevent Mpox. Here's more information:

Preventing Mpox Infection

It appears clade I mpox spreads in a similar manner as clade II mpox, through close (skin-skin), intimate and sexual contact. The identification of a potentially more severe mpox version in the United States is a good reminder for individuals who have certain risk factors to take preventive action, including:

- Getting vaccinated if you may be at risk for mpox. For the greatest protection, make sure you get both doses of the vaccine. Find mpox vaccine (JYNNEOS) near you.
- Taking precautions if

“Looks Like Another T.K.O. – Think I’d Better Let Them Go!”

By Lou K. Coleman | WSS News Contributor

Lou K Coleman

T.K.O. – Think I’d Better Let Them Go! For they have set at nought all My counsel and would none of My reproof. Leave them alone! [Proverbs 1:24-28].

Woe to those who sit at ease in Zion, who think that nothing is going to happen to them [Amos 6:1].

I will laugh at your calamity; I will mock you when fear come upon you; you shall call upon Me, but I will not answer; you will seek Me early, but you shall not find Me, for you hated knowledge, and did not choose the fear of the Lord. You shall eat the fruit of your own way and be filled with you own devices [Proverbs 1:25-31].

I tell you, when that day comes, when the Holy Spirit takes His flight from convicting your soul of sin, and no longer beats at your breast and tries to get you saved, then you will be like the people of Israel, the ten tribes, who had been warned again, and again, and again— but refused the message of God, and continued in their sin. At this rebellion, God was going to strike the entire nation down and start a new nation through Moses. It was only through Moses’ pleading with the LORD for mercy that the Israelites were not destroyed [Numbers 14:5–20].

Understand, God’s warnings are proof of God’s love. If He did not care, He would not warn. God gives grace, He gives mercy, He gives space to repent, but when man is living in rebellion to God, God will not continue forever to give him space. Those who are unrepentant before God will ultimately be identified, weighed, and judged [2 Corinthians 5:10].

For they listened not to My prophets nor My servants. It was all in vain. They despised the message, persecuted those who delivered it, and in the sequel put many of them to evil deaths. Their stubbornness is so great that they refuse to listen, no matter how often I warn them. They are bound to their idols. They cling and cleave to them with a morbid infatuation. Their heart is callous, their purpose stubborn, they will never give them up. Looks Like Another

Al Jury

Albunion “Al” Benny Jury, born August 22, 1941, in Waskom, Texas, was raised by his mother Gladys and stepfather Nathan Cook in San Bernardino, California. Known as “Butch” to family, Al excelled early in baseball, football, basketball, and track. He joined the 1953 Elks Yankees Little League champion team and was part of the first San Bernardino Gridiron Club team.

Al attended Burbank Elementary, Richardson Junior High, and Pacific High School, where he thrived in sports and academics. He became a four-sport athlete, won city championships in junior high basketball, was on the speech team, and served as President of the Black Student Union. After graduating in 1959, he attended San Bernardino Valley College. At 16, Al began refereeing Little League games, guided by mentor Chuck Lewis. By 18, he was officiating college games and joined the PAC 8 conference before being hired by the NFL in 1978 as its youngest referee. Al officiated five Super Bowls, wore uniform number 106, and retired in 2004 after an injury, later serving as an NFL observer and earning the Art McNally Award in 2014.

In addition to his sports career, Al served seven years with the U.S. Postal Service and had a 28-year career as a California Highway Patrol accident investigator.

Al was most proud of his family with his wife of 63 years, Juanita. Together, they had three sons, four grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, and a great-great-granddaughter. Preceded in death by his parents and grandson Donnell Jr., Al leaves behind his wife, children, grandchildren, and a large extended family.

Elections 2024: Secretary of State Weber Explains Results, Ballot Counting Process

By Edward Henderson | California Black Media

the largest voting base in the nation with 22.5 million registered voters. According to the Secretary of State Office (SOS), about 70% of the state's voters participated in the November Election. So far, 15.2 million votes have been counted, processed and verified. There are still roughly 0.8 million votes to go through the process.

Because California allows voters more time and opportunities to vote than most states, it typically takes longer to finalize the results.

Historically, it has taken the state the longest to finalize election results. Almost half of the uncalled house races this year come from California. As of Nov 14, the closest race is in the 45th Congressional District House race between Michelle Steel and Derek Tran. The two candidates are only separated by 58 votes with 93% of all votes counted.

"California basically makes sure that every vote counts," said Weber. "We will receive our first actual count from all of the 58 counties on Dec. 6. After that, we have at least one week, which is until Dec. 13, when we will actually certify the state results. Then that becomes the official results for the election."

If a recount is triggered in the 45th district, official results may take longer than the expected deadline.

The part of the ballot counting process that tends to prolong the official results involves

2025 Point-In-Time Count Planning is Underway with a Focus on Service to the Community

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY--- San Bernardino County is putting out a call for volunteers to help with the official count of unsheltered individuals on January 23 to collect data that will be used to determine how federal resources will be allocated. As an added enhancement, a special focus for volunteers will be to offer supportive services to the unhoused community in real-time alongside multi-disciplinary county teams.

The annual Point-In-Time Count (PITC) provides a snapshot of the county's homeless population, which enables officials to track progress toward reducing homelessness and ensure resources are being directed where they are most needed. The annual count is crucial for securing grant funding to assist individuals who are homeless or at risk of becoming homeless. The PITC also serves as an opportunity to mobilize county departments and partners to serve the most vulnerable populations in real-time.

"The Office of Homeless Services (OHS) is proud to team up with the San Bernardino County Homeless Partnership (SBCHP) and our dedicated volunteers to collect critical data that will support efforts to address homelessness," said OHS Chief Marcus Dillard. "We are deeply committed to ensuring that our homeless population has access to safe and stable housing. We also plan to provide supportive services to those we encounter during the PITC, just as we did last year."

Using a web-based app, county employees, community groups, homeless service providers, stakeholders and volunteers will canvass cities, towns and unincorporated communities to count, survey and assist individuals whose primary nighttime residence is in a vehicle, park, abandoned building, transit center, riverbed or other unsheltered location. The information collected from the survey will be shared with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Individuals and organizations are highly encouraged to participate in the count. Volunteers must be at least 18 years old and have an Android or iOS smartphone to conduct the survey. Participants will be organized into groups and assigned to specific areas of the county. Walking will be involved, and personal transportation is required. Training will be available in person and virtually to ensure everyone is prepared.

"The success of the annual count largely depends on city and community partnerships," said Dillard. "I strongly urge the community to volunteer and help us make a meaningful impact in addressing homelessness."

To register as a volunteer, please visit <https://sbchp.sbcounty.gov/community-projects/point-in-time-count>. For any questions regarding the PITC, please call 909-501-0617 or email Claudia Doyle at claudia.doyle@hss.sbcounty.gov.

OHS's primary focus is to work with community and faith-based organizations, educational institutions, the private sector and all levels of govern-

Palm Springs Approves $27 Million Reparations Deal for Displaced Black and Latino Families

By Bo Tefu | California Black Media

The Southern California city of Palm Springs approved a $27 million reparations compensation package for Black and Latino families who were displaced from their homes in the 1960s.

The city council voted on the deal Thursday, following an announcement last week. The move, which has garnered support from Sen. Laphonza Butler (D-Calif.), comes as part of a broader push for reparations in California.

Areva Martin acted as lead counsel for the Palm Springs group and represented the impacted families.

"We are making history in Palm Springs," said Martin. "This agreement demonstrates that it's never too late to acknowledge past wrongs and take meaningful steps toward justice."

The reparations agreement targets families from Section 14, a predominantly Black and Latino neighborhood demolished in the 1960s to make way for commercial development. Hundreds of families lost their homes in the process, and descendants have been advocating for reparations since the city issued an official apology in 2021. Despite the city's

PCA Lady Bulls Do It Big for Men's Day

The PCA Lady Bulls went above and beyond to honor the incredible men of PAL Charter Academy (PCA) and PAL Center with a heartfelt surprise luncheon for Men's Day! While International Men's Day often goes unnoticed, the Lady Bulls made sure to shine and honesty every day. Liz Arreola, Operations Coordinator, captured the sentiment perfectly: "We appreciate all the men of PAL and all they do."

The celebration was held in the Multi-Purpose Room (MPR), which had been transformed into an elegant setting adorned served the men, ensuring each guest received royal treatment and felt truly appreciated.

Dwaine Radden Sr., Executive Director, expressed heartfelt gratitude on behalf of all the men. He thanked the Lady Bulls for their thoughtful efforts, saying, "You a well-deserved spotlight on the contributions and positive impact of these remarkable men.

International Men's Day is a time to celebrate men's contributions to society, family, marriage, child care, and the environment. It's also an opportunity to acknowledge positive male role models and working-class men who live with integrity with silver and black balloons, inspiring quotes, and silhouettes that honored men making a difference in the community.

The men were treated to a luxurious five-star meal and an array of decadent desserts, including strawberry cheesecake, oversized cookies, ice cream, and pound cake. Beyond organizing the event, the Lady Bulls personally make us better." He also encouraged his fellow men to live up to one of the motivational quotes displayed on the walls, embodying integrity, compassion, and strength in their daily lives.

To all the men who stand tall with dignity and strive to make the world a better place—Happy Men's Day!

ger community.”
The project at the 2.25-acre park will replace the baseball field, renovate the existing snack bar and press box, upgrade the lighting, replace fencing, install new bleachers, build a new scoreboard, and install new park amenities.

“Growing up and playing here, I know how much this field means to this neighborhood. I want to recognize the efforts of Brandon Ponce, and the San Bernardino Pony League, their advocacy helped make this vision a reality. We are grateful to the City of San Bernardino, Mayor, City Council, and all the city staff who made this project happen.” said County Supervisor Joe Baca, Jr., who secured $995,000 in funds for the project.

Funding for the improvements came from both the San Bernardino City Council and County Board of Supervisors using funds from the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA).

By improving our parks, we create spaces for our children to play, learn, and grow,” added Tran.

“Thank you to Supervisor Baca and the San Bernardino Youth Baseball organization for their continued support of our youth and this important project.”

Construction is expected to be completed in late spring/early summer of 2025.

Unanimous 5-0 Vote For Justice

legal settlement, the City Council voted 5-0 in favor of community initiatives for housing and economic development programs, including: $20 million in affordable housing initiatives over ten years ($10 million as part of a first-time homebuyer assistance program; and, a community land trust of $10 million); and, $1 million spanning five years toward small business development, to promote diversity and inclusion in Palm Springs' small businesses. The City Council also agreed to establish a day of remembrance for Section 14 and is supportive of a racial and cultural healing center.

The agreement acknowledges the City's role in the destruction of Section 14, a once vibrant one-square-mile community of predominantly African American and Latino residents that was demolished without warning as the City sought commercial development. The destruction of this community resulted in the loss of homes and personal property for hundreds of survivors and their descendants.

"This unanimous vote represents more than just monetary compensation – it is a long-overdue acknowledgment of a deep historical wrong that tore apart a thriving community," said Areva Martin, lead counsel for the Palm Springs Section 14 Survivors. "While no settlement can fully heal the wounds inflicted by the horrors of displacement, this agreement is a monumental step in restorative justice. This vote tells the Section 14 Survivors: your pain was real, your stories matter, and you deserve justice. Finally, justice prevailed. I'd like to acknowledge and thank my partners and fellow attorneys at Martin & Martin, LLP, Michael Swartz and Sara Solfanelli of Schulte Roth & Zabel, Daniel Suvor and David Lash of O'Melveny, and Professor Eric Miller of Loyola Law School. Above all else, I am deeply grateful to the Survivors of Section 14 for placing your trust in me and my team throughout this process. It has been an honor and privilege to work with them to finally achieve justice after so many decades."

"The eyes of the nation were on Palm Springs, and I am so thankful to this City Council for voting with their hearts and for doing the right thing," said Pearl Devers, President of the Palm Springs Section 14 Survivors. "I am elated to see that this City Council did the right thing across the board. After years of lifting our voices, we can finally say justice has been achieved. In partnership with Areva Martin and her team, we have made it to this historic moment, so we can finally close this chapter of Palm Springs' history and move forward, in unity and in healing."

Palm Springs Approves $27 Million

apology, many were concerned that no payments had been made, prompting action from Butler earlier this year.

The deal includes $5.9 million in direct compensation for around 300 survivors and their descendants, well below the $2 billion initially requested. In addition to cash payments, the agreement includes $10 million for a first-time homebuyer assistance program and $10 million for a community land trust aimed at affordable housing. Other provisions include $1 million for diversity and inclusion initiatives, a renamed park, and a monument to honor the displaced families.

Palm Springs Mayor Jeffrey Bernstein called the settlement a fair and just resolution, expressing hope that the agreement would set a national precedent for reparations.

While this follows a similar reparations program in Evanston, Illinois, California's statewide efforts have faced resistance, especially following Newsom's rejection of a state-level reparations proposal earlier this year.

The Palm Springs settlement is seen as a historic step toward addressing racial injustice, though challenges to similar programs continue elsewhere in the U.S.
